Over 3m children at risk as devastating floods hit Pakistan

Staff Reporter

ISLAMABAD: More than three million children are in need of humanitarian assistance and at increased risk of waterborne diseases, drowning and malnutrition due to the most severe flooding in Pakistan's recent history, UNICEF warned today. UNICEF is working with Government and non-government partners to respond to the urgent needs of children and families in affected areas.

33 million people - including approximately 16 million children - have been affected by this year's heavy monsoon rains in Pakistan, which have brought devastating rains, floods and landslides. Over 1,100 people including over 350 children have lost their lives, and a further 1,600 have been injured. Over 287,000 houses have been fully, and 662,000 partially, destroyed. Some major rivers have breached their banks and dams overflowed, destroying homes, farms and critical infrastructure including roads, bridges, schools, hospitals and public health facilities.

"When disasters hit, children are always among the most vulnerable," said Abdullah Fadiil, UNICEF Representative in Pakistan. "These floods have already taken a devastating toll on children and families, and the situation could become even worse. UNICEF is working closely with the Government and other partners to ensure that children affected get the critical support they need as soon as possible."

In affected areas, 30 per cent of water systems are estimated to have been damaged, further increasing the risk of disease outbreaks with people resorting to open defecation and drinking unsafe water.

There are reports of significant damage to education infrastructure as 17,566 schools have been damaged/destroyed, further jeopardizing the education of children. After two years of pandemic school closures in the last few years, children once again risk further disruption to their learning, in areas where one-third of girls and boys were already out-of-school before the crisis. The rainfall - nearly three times the national 30-year average, and more than five times the 30-year average in some provinces, has led to the Government declaring a national emergency, with 72 districts declared 'calamity hit'

- mostly in Balochistan and Sindh, the two worst-affected provinces, as well as in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa and Punjab.

Cases of diarrhoea and water-borne diseases, respiratory infection, and skin diseases have already been reported. They affect populations which are very vulnerable - 40 per cent of children already suffered from stunting, caused by chronic undernutrition, before the floods hit. The perilous humanitarian situation is expected to continue to worsen in the days and weeks ahead as heavy rains continue in regions already under water.

As part of the UN flash appeal to support the response, led by the Government of Pakistan - launched this week - UNICEF is appealing for US$37 million, and aims to reach children and families in the coming months with support including life-saving medical equipment, essential medicines, vaccines and safe delivery kits, safe drinking water and sanitation supplies, nutrition supplies and temporary learning centres and learning kits.

According to UNICEF's Children's Climate Risk Index (CCRI), Pakistan is a known 'climate hotspot' and country where children are considered 'extremely high risk' to the impacts of climate change, ranking 14th out of 163 CCRI-ranked countries and regions, placing Pakistan in the 'Extremely high risk' classification category in the Index. Children in 'Extremely high risk' countries face a deadly combination of exposure to multiple climate and environmental shocks combined with high levels of underlying child vulnerability, due to inadequate essential services, such as water and sanitation, health-care and education.

She said that Syed Ali Geelani was symbol of resistance against Indian occupation and torchbearer of Kashmiri freedom movement and his legacy would continue to guide and inspire Kashmir's present as well as coming generations.

She added that Indian authorities wanted to break the resolve of the iconic leader by keeping him in detention but failed in their nefarious designs, adding that Indian authorities' policy of oppression and suppression even could not weaken his ideological allegiance with Pakistan.

The chairperson stated that Geelani proved prophetic who predicted over decade ago that 500,000 Biharis would be given Kashmiri citizenship, as six to seven hundred thousand army would be given citizenship to change the demography of Kashmir and afterward, India would say OK, let us have a referendum now.

EZ Wage, 1LINK sign pact to digitize payment channels

Spokesman Report

LAHORE: The strategic alliance with 1LINK will enable EZ Wage to access all member banks on 1LINK's portal and will facilitate 24/7 disbursement in real time when employees opt to withdraw a portion of their earned wages using the state-of-the-art EZ Wage mobile application.

Singapore-based EZ Wage is one of the first financial wellness platforms in Pakistan that offers Earned Wage Access (EWA), allowing users the benefit of retrieving a portion of their hard-earned money before payday. This revolutionary employee benefit not only boosts the morale and performance of employees but also benefits employers by reducing the workload of their HR/Finance departments and does not tie up their own working capital.

Needless to say, the backdrop of inflation and global recession coupled with rigorous downsizing during the pandemic has spurred people into considering sources of borrowing money, such as friends and family as well as loan sharks which may not necessarily work in their favour in the long run. This renders the future of digitized payments and EWA quite promising in the region.

Present at the occasion were Mr. Najeeb Agrawalla, CEO 1LINK, Fatima Batool, Founder of CEO EZ Wage and Hisham Naseem, Global CFO EZ Wage, along with their respective teams. Both parties expressed mutual interest in shifting payments to digital channels so that the end beneficiaries can become more self-reliant and secure when it comes to their money.

Hisham Naseem, Global CFO of EZ Wage commented, "This partnership with 1LINK will enable EZ Wage to fulfill its mission of revolutionizing financial wellness for the masses and will advance women empowerment and financial inclusion in the country."

Fatima Batool, CEO of EZ Wage, added, "We are honored to onboard 1LINK as our official Payment Solution Provider in Pakistan. This is another leap towards financial inclusivity and wellness for the masses. We hope that the enablement of real time withdrawals makes monetary emergencies less daunting for the employees we are catering to."

The government and the people of Pakistan reaffirmed their solidarity and unflinching support for the people and the government of Turkiye as the country celebrated the 100th anniversary of Victory Day.

"This day, a hundred years ago, the great Turkish nation secured the ultimate victory by defeating foreign occupation and imperialism. Unyielding determination, courage and unity exhibited by the Turkish nation laid the foundation of Turkiye's liberation, independence and national sovereignty," the Foreign Office spokesperson said in a statement.

He paid special tribute to Mustafa Kemal Atatürk who inspired and led his compatriots to one of the most brilliant victories in world history.

The spokesperson said that in their heroic struggle against the foreign occupation through the war of Independence, the valiant Turkish nation was wholeheartedly supported by the Muslims of South Asia.

Ambassador Dr Mehmet Pacaci read out the message of Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan issued on the occasion where he emphasised the Turkish nation's struggle for freedom.

President Recep Tayyip Erdogan said Monday marking Turkiye's Victory Day. "The holiday commemorates the decisive victory in the Battle of Dumlupınar, the last battle in the Turkish War of Independence on Aug. 30, 1922. Following the battle, the Greek presence after World War I in Anatolia ended. Victory Day has been celebrated as an official holiday since 1926 and was first celebrated on Aug. 30, 1923".

Releasing a message addressing Turkish citizens, Erdogan said: "We are proud of reaching the 100th anniversary of the Great Victory. I congratulate the August 30 Victory Day of our nation, our brothers in the Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus and all our citizens living all over the world. On behalf of myself, my country and my nation, I would like to thank all our friends who share our holiday joy."

"Our nation, whose history is full of glorious victories, concluded its liberation struggle despite all kinds of poverty and impossibility with a definite and indisputable victory on Aug. 30, 1922. With the Great Victory, it has been registered once again that the lands on which we live freely today are our eternal homeland," he added.

Erdogan underlined the Turkish nation's passion for freedom in his message and said: "Rather than remain under the control of the enemy for even one day, our nation marched to martyrdom with courage that killed death and claimed its independence and future. Lastly, what happened on the night of July 15 has once again shown that the unwavering will that inspired the Great Offensive is still alive in our hearts. Turkiye is taking firm steps toward building its bright and prosperous future with the strength it receives from its past."

"2023, when we will celebrate the 100th anniversary of our republic, will hopefully be a new milestone in which we herald the construction of a great and powerful Turkiye. With these thoughts, I commemorate with gratitude the founder of our republic, the Commander-in-Chief of the Great Offensive, Gazi Mustafa Kemal, and his comrades in arms. I wish God's mercy on our martyrs who fell to the ground as if they were entering a rose garden for the sake of our homeland, and I commemorate our veterans with gratitude. May the souls of our martyrs rest in peace and their place be in heaven. Happy August 30 Victory Day," the president said.

Later in the day, Erdo addressed the crowd to mark the anniversary of the victory in Kütahya. "We are determined to turn the century we are in into the century of Turkiye," he said during his speech.

Azerbaijan's Defense Ministry also issued a congratulatory message for the 100th anniversary of the August 30 victory. "Military cooperation between our countries further strengthens our unity. Azerbaijan-Turkey fraternal relations contribute to the preservation of peace and stability in the region," it said.

"The courage of the Turkish nation in the War of Independence is written in history with golden letters. The image created by the heroes of this war, their dreams of freedom and statism came true in the example of one nation and two states, Azerbaijan and Turkey," it added.

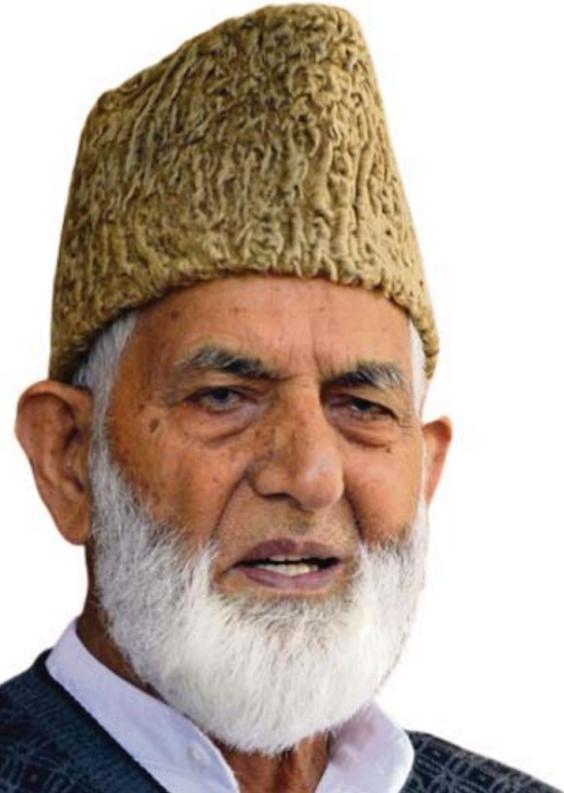

The Battle of Dumlupınar ended with Turkiye's decisive victory against occupying Greek forces in a campaign that took place between 1919 and 1922. Greek forces had invaded most of western Turkiye following the collapse of the Ottoman Empire in the aftermath of World War I. Mustafa Kemal Atatürk (then known as the Ottoman Pasha Mustafa Kemal) hit the road in 1919 to mobilize forces to fight for Turkish independence. In a brief period of time, he managed to organize a movement with the support of the public. After dealing a crushing blow to Greek forces in the Battle of Sakarya in 1921, Mustafa Kemal's forces launched the Great Offensive one year later to push Greek forces further to the west and, eventually, force them to leave Anatolia.

Finally, the offensive began in the last week of August in 1922. Turkish forces, one by one, recaptured places invaded by Greek forces, forcing them to start retreating to western cities. On Aug. 30, the two sides confronted each other near the town of Dumlupınar, located in the present-day Kütahya province. The victory ensured the recapture of Kütahya while inflicting heavy losses on the Greek forces. It would take another two weeks before the Turkish army captured the last Greek stronghold in the western province of Izmir and cleared Anatolia of all Greek forces.

Every Kashmiri has become Syed Ali Geelani now tribute to legendary leader

SRINAGAR: Kashmiris on both sides of the Line of Control and abroad are paying rich tributes to the veteran Hurriyat leader Syed Ali Geelani on his first martyrdom anniversary, Thursday.

through different and difficult phases of our freedom movement." Bilal said, the veteran leader was also a qualitative writer, a great orator and an able administrator.

On his first martyrdom anniversary, we with great reverence and regards remember the great leader for his uncompromising and unflinching determination towards the sacred cause of freedom and renew our pledge to continue our just and legal struggle till its logical end, he added.

Mir Shahid Saleem said Syed Ali Geelani was subjected to a lot of pain, trials and tribulations for his political beliefs. He said this great leader made supreme sacrifices to safeguard the political and democratic rights of the people of Jammu and Kashmir.

Other Hurriyat leaders and organizations in their statements said that the slogan 'Hum Pakistani Hain, Pakistan Hamara Ha' was coined by Kashmir's visionary leader Syed Ali Geelani, who remained an ardent supporter of Pakistan throughout his life.

Syed Ali Geelani, they added, was a staunch advocate of Kashmir's merger with Pakistan all his life. His devotion to free Kashmir from Indian yoke and make it part of Pakistan remained a dominating factor of his life till his last breath, they said.

Today, every single Kashmiri has become Syed Ali Geelani and "Hum Pakistani Hain, Pakistan Hamara Ha" is reverberating in every nook & corner of occupied Jammu and Kashmir.

Meanwhile, seminars and rallies were held in Europe and other parts of the world where Kashmiris are present in large numbers to remember Syed Ali Geelani for his unparalleled sacrifices for the Kashmir cause.

and Mir Shahid Saleem in their statements on Thursday said that Syed Ali Geelani will continue to serve as a guiding force for Kashmiris' just cause of self-determination. "His able and courageous leadership will continue to guide

Syed Ali Geelani was a strong voice of Pakistan: AJK President

MUZAFFARABAD: President Azad Jammu and Kashmir Barrister Sultan Mahmood Chaudhry has said that Syed Ali Geelani was the strong voice of Pakistan in Occupied Kashmir who raised the slogan "Hum Pakistani hain, Pakistan Hamara hay".

In his special message released on the occasion of the first anniversary of the renowned Hurriyat leader Syed Ali Geelani, the President said, "Geelani Sahib was a man of principle who remained stick to his ideology till the last breath of his life". The president said that Mr. Geelani was made to suffer because of his political ideology. He said that at a time when he needed intensive care, the brutal Indian army forcibly detained him and kept him under house detention for several years. Terming Geelani as a symbol of courage and perseverance, Barrister Chaudhary said that Geelani spent his entire life advocating Kashmiris' right to self-determination. "The Indian authorities' policy of oppression and suppression could not weaken his ideological allegiance with Pakistan", he said. The government of Azad Kashmir, he said, would utilize all its resources to accomplish the martyrs' mission of freedom from India and accession of the entire state to Pakistan.

PM AJK hails Syed Ali Geelani's lifelong struggle for Kashmiris' right to self-determination

MUZAFFARABAD: Prime Minister Azad Jammu and Kashmir Sardar Tanveer Ilyas Khan while paying eulogizing tributes to veteran liberation leader and former chairman of All Parties Hurriyat Conference Syed Ali Shah Geelani, has said that the deceased leader was an epoch-making personality who spearheaded the freedom movement against India with utmost courage and perseverance.

In his special statement, the Prime Minister said that the political void created by the demise of the iconic leader (SAS Geelani) could never be filled easily. "Geelani was the symbol of resistance against oppression", the PM said, adding that the proud legacy left behind by him would serve as a beacon light for future generations. "Years' long trials and tribulations could not deter him (Geelani) from pursuing the collective cause of freedom", he said adding that the Babai Hurriyat (father of resistance movement) bravely faced every challenge that came in his way and stood as a rock in the face of Indian oppression. "He devoted his whole life for the freedom movement of Kashmir and the rights of Kashmiris and remained stuck to his ideology till the last breath of his life", he said, adding that he was imprisoned and detained for most of his life, but these trials and tribulations could not dampen his undying spirit and passion for the freedom of Kashmir. Referring to the continued bloodshed and unending violence in the region, the PM recalled that 147 Kashmiri youth were subjected to extra-judicial killing by the Indian army in 117 different incidents this year. "Only in the month of August, 16 Kashmiris were killed in fake encounters", the PM said, adding that three Kashmiri youths were killed in a fake encounter in South Kashmir's Shopian district yesterday.

The PM urged the United Nations and other human rights organizations should take effective notice of the matter and hold the Indian government accountable for the crimes its army has been committing in the held territory. He said that the Indian occupying forces have been given a free license to kill innocent Kashmiris. "The United Nations, OIC and other influential world institutions should take notice of the ongoing brutality and barbarism in Occupied Kashmir and play their role to resolve the lingering dispute that has been the main cause and consequence of rights violations and bloodshed in the region", the PM added.

Life of Syed Ali Geelani was a metaphor of courage: Sardar Atiq

MUZAFFARABAD: Supreme Head of All Jammu and Kashmir Muslim Conference and former Prime Minister Sardar Atiq Ahmad Khan has said that the life of Syed Ali Geelani was a metaphor of courage and perseverance. He transferred the struggle against the usurpation of India to the next generation. In his messages on the occasion of the first anniversary of Syed Ali Geelani, he said that the people of Occupied Kashmir were making sacrifices for the right of self-determination and freedom despite the very adverse conditions. India tried to destroy the spirit of freedom of Kashmiris by using all methods of oppression and oppression, but personalities like Syed Ali Geelani played an important role in keeping the Kashmiri people standing against Indian atrocities and occupation. India kept them in prisons for years. And even after his death, he was buried in the darkness of night due to public reaction, but now instead of being deceived by India, the youth of Kashmir is carrying forward the burnt torch of Syed Ali Geelani and other martyrs. The time is not far when these sacrifices will pay off and India will have to leave Kashmir in disgrace, he added.

SYED ALI GEELANI THE MAN AND THE MYSTIQUE

Amjed Jaaved

Syed Ali Shah Geelani was born in Zurimanj village (Bandipora tehsil), in the Baramulla district of North Kashmir on September 29, 1929. He died on 1st September 2021 while under house arrest (Aug 5, 2019 until September 1, 2021) for over a decade. Freedom lovers including Kashmiri Diaspora in different countries have decided to commemorate his death anniversary in a befitting manner.

His house remained heavily barricaded until his death. He was denied access to the internet and other communication facilities. Geelani's passport was seized in 1981. Though he suffered from renal cancer, he was not allowed to travel abroad for treatment.

When he died, Indian forces whisked away his dead body and buried it at a deserted place. That's why Kashmiris regard his death as a custodial killing.

Vision and struggle

Geelani was a farsighted leader. He never compromised on the demand for self-determination. He even opposed Pervez Musharraf's "innovative" proposals for resolving the Kashmir dispute. He understood that India wants to change the demography of the disputed state. He also realised that India's draconian laws, meant for nabbing timber mafia, would be applied to freedom lovers to stifle their voice. He vehemently opposed these laws particularly the Public Safety Act.

He was a symbol of indomitable resistance. During his incarceration in Indian jails, he was subjected to physical and mental torture.

Geelani played an active role in the formulation of the Muslim United Front (MUF) in 1987 ahead of provincial elections, against pro-India parties, including National Conference. However, only four platform candidates, including Geelani, managed to secure seats due to rigging. Geelani, along with three other winners, was jailed by India.

In 1992, the All Parties Hurriyat (Freedom) Conference (APHC) was set up. It was meant to serve as a platform for 30 pro-freedom parties.

In August 2004, Geelani along with Muhammad Ashraf Sehrai launched Tehreek-e-Hurriyat (Movement of Freedom). He spearheaded mass civil uprisings post-2008.

In 2010 he led the movement against the killing of three civilians in a fake encounter along the LoC in the Machil area of Kupwara district by Indian forces. In 2016 Geelani, along with Mirwaiz Umar Farooq and Muhammad Yasin Malik organized protests against the killing of Burhan Wani by Indian forces.

SDGs: The possible solutions for Global issues

Raja Furqan Ahmed

Analysis

The term Sustainable development is defined as an approach to developing or growing by using resources in a way that allows for them to renew or continue existing for others. The concept of sustainable development can be interpreted in many different ways, but at its core is an approach to the development that looks to balance different, and often competing, needs against an awareness of the environmental, political, social and economic limitations we face as a society. In simple terms, through sustainable development, we can recognize that what we do today to make our lives better should not have a negative consequence for our children or their children/future generation. Sustainable development is a common agenda for global concern, which everybody agrees upon. It also highlights today world issue such as global warming, climate change, Overpopulation, Poverty, Racial discrimination, Global pandemic etc. It is generally the balance between economic growth, care for the environment and social well-being. After the industrial revolution, people-focused towards the technological advancement and development and due to the industrialization, the world started fear from the changes across the world. Air pollution, climate change as well as forest degradation play a key role in the world to think about the destruction of the earth as a planet. The sustainable development goals (SDGs) are a new, universal set of goals, targets and indicators that UN member states. The Sustainable Development Goals, also known as the Global Goals, are a call from the United Nations to all countries around the world to address the great challenges that humanity faces and to ensure that all people have the same opportunities to live a better life without compromising our planet. The United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) has 17 goals with 169 targets that all 191 UN Member States have agreed to try to achieve by the year 2030. Each of the 17 SDGs has specific targets to be achieved by 2030. The goals and targets are universal, means that they apply to all countries around the world, not just poor countries but developing countries have to follow. Reaching the goals requires action on all fronts either it can be governments, businesses, civil society, non-governmental organization (NGOs), IGOs and people everywhere around the globe. Let's discuss the 17th SDGs goals according to the United Nations. The first goal of SDGs is No Poverty. This goal-focused to end poverty in all its forms everywhere. Next is Zero Hunger which emphasized to End hunger, achieves food security and improved nutrition and promotes sustainable agriculture. Good Health and Well-being is the third goal of SDGs which concentrate to ensure healthy lives and promote well-being for all at all ages. Quality Education, the fourth SDG goal stress to ensure inclusive and equitable quality education and promote lifelong learning opportunities for all. The Next is Gender Equality which points out Gender equality and empowers all women and girls. Clean Water and Sanitation Ensure availability and sustainable management of water and sanitation for all. Affordable and Clean Energy also ensure access to affordable, reliable, sustainable and modern energy for all. Decent Work and Economic Growth which Promote sustained, inclusive and sustainable economic growth, full and productive employment and decent work for all. Industry, Innovation, and Infrastructure, the nine-goal of SDGs focus to build resilient infrastructure, promote inclusive and sustainable industrialization, and foster innovation. Reducing Inequality talk about Reduce income inequality within and among countries. Sustainable Cities and Communities emphasis to make cities and human settlements inclusive, safe, resilient, and sustainable. Responsible Consumption and Production focus on sustainable consumption and production patterns. Another major SDGs goal includes the Climate Action in which it takes urgent action to combat climate change and its impacts by regulating emissions and promoting developments in renewable energy.

Life below Water and Life on Land are also the major goals of SDGs which focused on Conserve and sustainably use the oceans, seas and marine resources for sustainable development and Protect, restore and promote sustainable use of terrestrial ecosystems, sustainably manage forests, combat desertification, and halt and reverse land degradation and halt biodiversity loss. Next is Peace, Justice, and Strong Institutions which Promote peaceful and inclusive societies for sustainable development provide access to justice for all and build effective, accountable and inclusive institutions at all levels. The last goal of SDGs is Partnerships for the Goals in which Strengthen the means of implementation and revitalizes the global partnership for sustainable development. As the SDGs were set in 2015 by the United Nations General Assembly. The goals provide the gateway to the state for their development. Now, this is the prior responsibility of the state to achieve goals before the year 2030. The writer is a freelance journalist based in Islamabad, Pakistan. He tweets @furqanraja1122.

Geelani symbol of Kashmiris' struggle

Syed Ali Geelani was the symbol of Kashmiri freedom movement. Geelani always raised the slogan that we are Pakistanis and Pakistan is ours. This slogan is reverberating in every part of the world. Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif, in his message on first death anniversary of the great Kashmir leader, said that the struggle of Syed Ali Gilani was a golden chapter in the history of the All Parties Hurriyat Conference as well as the Kashmir freedom movement. The PM said that late Syed Ali Gilani was a symbol of Kashmir freedom and the title of "Baba-e-Hurriyat" (father of freedom movement) by the Kashmiris was in fact the recognition of his historic struggle. "Syed Ali Gilani was not merely an individual rather a movement and a mission with the slogan of 'Kashmir to become Pakistan,'" he remarked. Therefore, India must remember that by snatching the mortal remains of late Ali Gilani, India could not take away the Kashmiris' passion for freedom. "The people of Pakistan and Kashmir salute Syed Ali Gilani. His slogan "We are Pakistani and Pakistan is ours" still echoes across the world," the PM commented. The prime minister said that Syed Ali Gilani remained as relevant to the freedom struggle today as he had been in life. Syed Ali Geelani was a great freedom fighting leader and a revolutionist. His political struggle has always been praised and will always be remembered by the Kashmiri people and the worldwide. His motive isn't left behind but everything seems deserted without his voice. His absence can't be filled but his efforts and struggle will continue to lead the Kashmiris people in their just struggle for freedom from Indian occupation. His greatest slogan of all time, "We are Pakistani and Pakistan is ours", is seen as the symbol of love for Pakistan and is still used as a slogan on various protests by Kashmiri people. With the aim set by a great freedom leader Syed Ali Gilani, Kashmiris will win their right to self-determination and ultimate freedom from Indian clutches. Indian government used all forms of atrocities like a long period of over 12 years of house arrest against him, but he didn't fall behind. It is because of his efforts that all the Kashmiri people are standing behind his motive to take freedom from the Indian oppression. He told the world that our efforts will never be halted, until we achieve the right of self-determination and freedom. Syed Ali Geelani and his motive will always be in our heart, and with the blessing of Almighty Allah we will achieve it very soon. Today, his enthusiasm was anticipated in the Kashmiri youth, when they were out on the streets of Srinagar despite of large contingent of Indian army. Kashmiri people want solution of Kashmir dispute in line with the United Nations resolutions. The UN, OIC and Amnesty International must take concrete steps for the resolution of this outstanding dispute. The Kashmiri people will continue fighting against Indian oppression, until they achieve their right of self-determination.

Food insecurity heats up with rising temperatures

To understand the globalized nature of our food system, look no further than your morning cup of coffee. That jolt of caffeine comes to your table via an elaborate network of some 25 million coffee farmers from Brazil to Vietnam, who are linked to the world by a far-flung supply chain of traders, roasters, financiers, shippers, grocery stores and cafes. Coffee is the second-most-traded commodity in the world after crude oil and it comprises a $466 billion industry, landing in your cup in no small part due to the fossil fuels that power the ships and create the packaging. Coffee is globalization in a mug. But coffee is not alone. Our food system comprises a world of ever-connecting supply webs crisscrossing seas and continents, bringing Mediterranean olive oil and Californian almonds, Ukrainian wheat and Indian rice, and West African cocoa and Brazilian soybeans to markets worldwide. Our ecosystem of food is relentlessly global, creating an abundance the likes of which has never been seen before in human history. That same abundance fueled by globalization has a flip side: Sudden disruptions can wreak havoc, leading to food insecurity and mass hunger. We have experienced three major disruptive events in the past two and a half years: The COVID-19 pandemic, Russia's invasion of Ukraine and, more recently, ongoing droughts and historic heat waves from the US West Coast to Europe and China. The last of these problems, driven by rising temperatures, could prove to be the most disruptive over the long term. Consider the havoc in Europe today. Spain, Portugal, France and Italy have all recently suffered historic heat waves and some of the worst droughts on record. This one-two punch of heat and drought has lowered river levels, withered crops, taxed electricity grids and slowed manufacturing. Lower river levels mean less hydropower. Diminishing hydropower capabilities have come at a very challenging time for Europe's energy infrastructure, given the meteoric rise in natural gas prices. Germany is using more coal — the most polluting fossil fuel — to get by. However, lower river levels have even complicated coal usage: Ships that carry the coal on the Rhine are paralyzed. European governments have deeper buffers and stronger supply chain safeguards than most countries worldwide. While the current disruptions will be painful, we will not see mass levels of food insecurity or hunger. Not so for the Horn of Africa. The most extreme drought in four decades has left some 18 million people across Somalia, Kenya and Ethiopia struggling to find enough food to eat, while tens of millions face varying levels of food insecurity. As for the Middle East and North Africa region, the World Food Program of the UN has issued a stark warning: A major crisis is growing across the region, with 73 million people across 14 countries lacking access to sufficient food supplies. While some of the worst-hit countries are plagued by factors beyond climate, such as war, mismanagement or corruption, the climate-food nexus will play a prominent role in the region's future. A recent International Monetary Fund report noted that climate disasters displace 7 million people a year across the Middle East and Central Asia. On average, climate disasters also lead to 2,600 deaths and $2 billion

Palestinian prisoners demand to be treated with dignity

Daoud Kuttab

The images of Khalil Awawdeh released last week were jarring. After 178 days of abstaining from food, the body of this protesting Palestinian prisoner was nothing more than bones and skin. On seeing those photos, no one with any humanity in them could fail to empathize with a prisoner protesting a system that detains people without charge or trial. Rescinding the use of administrative detention as a punishment is just one of the demands of the nearly 5,000 Palestinian prisoners of Israel. They have started preliminary actions, which are due to escalate on Sept. 1 to a nationwide open hunger strike. In perspective, the demands of the prisoners are not that hard to accomplish. They comply with international humanitarian law and many of them are demands that the Israeli prison authorities have previously granted but then rescinded. Some were used on all prisoners last year because of the jailbreak by six Palestinians from Gilboa Prison. All escapees were caught and reimprisoned. Hunger striking is not new. In fact, it is one of the most powerful nonviolent tools that prisoners have long used to gain simple basic rights and, most importantly, to demand dignity and to be treated in a humane way. This means family visits, the availability of basic food items, ending the constant use of solitary confinement, and ending detention without trial or charge as a means of punishment. Administrative detention was introduced to the legal system in Palestine during the British mandate and was part of the 1945 emergency regulations. It was supposed to be used temporarily and was aimed at detaining individuals for a short time in order to prevent violence. Israel has not only adopted this draconian and undemocratic practice, but has also used it as a punishment rather than as a deterrent, prompting the prisoners' protests.

What danger can a frail Palestinian like Awawdeh pose to the security of one of the region's most powerful countries? Can anyone with a sane mind believe that simply shifting the status of a hospital-laden prisoner from detainee to free man will endanger the national security of the state of Israel? Palestinian prisoners are known to be disciplined and committed. When they say they will declare an open hunger strike, they mean it. They will abstain from taking food for days, weeks and months until they reach an agreement with prison authorities. It is noteworthy that their demands include a request for freedom only for those who have not been charged or tried — this is hardly a dangerous demand for a country that claims day and night to be the only democracy in the region and, even more ridiculously, to operate the most moral army in the world. A democratic country does not hold individuals without charge or trial. Palestinians have asked their lawyers to no longer represent them during the Israeli attempts to secure a military court review of the claims of secret documents, which supposedly lay behind the decisions to detain individuals, usually for six months, which can be and are renewed numerous times. Awawdeh follows the example of others before him, who have made huge sacrifices with their own bodies to make sure that the world understands the injustices they have suffered. Israel may not have any direct reason to charge or try Awawdeh or the 700 other administrative detainees, but make no mistake they are guilty of something honorable: Of standing up to the occupier and oppressor; something powerful countries and leaders seem to be afraid of doing. They are also guilty of insisting on demanding an end to a foreign military occupation that rules their country and oppresses their people. If that is a crime, then we are all guilty of the crime of wanting to live in dignity and freedom. Daoud Kuttab is an award-winning Palestinian journalist from Jerusalem. Courtesy Arab News

ADIB Egypt partners with SimpliFi to boost e-payments

Collaboration came in line with bank's objective to expand its portfolio

CAIRO: Abu Dhabi Islamic Bank-Egypt (ADIB Egypt) teamed up with SimpliFi, a Cards as a Service (CaaS) platform in MENA and Pakistan, to scale up the digital payments ecosystem in Egypt.

The collaboration came in line with the bank's objective to expand its portfolio and enhance its digital solutions, according to a recent press release.

Through the partnership, firms in the Arab Republic will be able to issue, manage, and run their own card programmes.

Mohamed Aly, CEO and Managing Director of ADIB-Egypt, said: "[The collaboration] allows us to empower Egyptian companies by issuing payment cards as a gateway to more integrated financial digitisation, aligning with the Central Bank of Egypt's (CBE) vision towards expanding the efficiency and use of e-payments."

Ahmed Effat, Consumer Banking Head at ADIB-Egypt, noted: "Our partnership with SimpliFi is a pivotal step along our digitisation journey."

Effat elaborated: "Its value is not only limited to leveraging the company's integrated expertise in technology and digital payments but will include its extensive network of relationships with companies in Egypt as well as startups across [MENA] that are looking to enter the Egyptian market."

During the first half (H1) of 2022, the lender registered consolidated net profits worth EGP 1.01 billion, an annual hike of 48.40% from EGP 680.15 million, including minority interest.

CPA receives requests from 3 alliances to establish 'digital banking' in Kuwait

KUWAIT CITY: The Competition Protection Authority has received requests from 3 alliances to establish digital banks in Kuwait, including 7 listed companies, noting that the authority's officials have begun studying the competitive weights that can arise from these alliances in the future, reports Al-Rai daily.

The sources pointed out that the three licensing applications submitted include the Boubyan Bank's alliance with Zain Telecom Group and other 'undeclared' investors, the alliance of "Oore-doo", Warba Bank, the Kuwait Investment Company and Al-Manar Finance and Leasing Company, in addition to the alliance of Kuwait and Middle East Financial Investment Company. KMEFIC is with 'undeclared' investors, noting that there are a set of requests to establish digital banks submitted by unlisted entities.

Contrary to expectations, 'Agility' did not submit a request to the Central Bank of Kuwait within the specified deadline, which ended at the end of last June, which means that the company retracted its efforts to establish a digital bank, according to its disclosure on the stock exchange website on August 22, 2021.

The sources suggested that the Central Bank's approvals regarding licensing digital banks would not exceed the granting of licenses to two independent banks only, bearing in mind that the Central Bank will announce the names that meet the conditions and criteria at the end of 2022. According to the nature of advanced alliances, KMEFIC and others are the only ones that do not operate in accordance with Islamic law, which increases the chances of licensing them.

Egypt's FRA issues first license for Islamic microfinance activity

CAIRO: Chairperson of the Financial Regulatory Authority (FRA) Mohamed Farid revealed that the authority issued its first license to a financial institution to engage in financing micro enterprises according to Islamic financing formulas.

Farid explained that issuing the new license adds a new dimension to the existing financing mechanisms in the local market in terms of innovating the "agency investment formula." The formula is a contract in which another person is authorised to invest an amount of money owned in favour of the investor in return for a specified fee or a sum or a percentage of the invested money.

He added that the authority is currently looking into the option of issuing the necessary approvals to allow using products based on other main forms of Islamic financing - including murabaha and all types of musharaka for other companies - to be applied for the first time with the non-banking micro-enterprise sector.

Farid highlighted the importance of diversifying the applications of financing formulas in general to finance micro-enterprises, adding that this would help accelerate the pace of addressing the problem of the informal economy through integrating new segments of micro-enterprise owners into the formal sector for the first time. This would eventually help with positive rates in achieving the objectives of the state's strategy towards financial inclusion.

Activity statistics at the end of July 2022 indicate that the number of beneficiaries of microfinance services reached about 3.8m with a financing portfolio of about EGP 33.3bn, 60% of which - or 2.3 million beneficiaries - were women. Also, young people of both genders constituted 64% of the total beneficiaries.

It is worth noting that after Egyptian microfinance company Maksab obtained a new license to engage in microfinance activity based on the application of the agency financing by investment formula for its various financing products, the number of companies licensed by the authority to engage in microfinance activity in the country jumped to 19.

The investment agency can vary, as it can be classified as a general, private, absolute, restricted, temporary, non-temporary, paid, or unpaid agency.

This formula allows the finances of the funding bodies to be invested with clients with trustworthy creditworthiness (agents) in all economic activities. In return, the agent receives a sum of money, as the agreement between the two parties entail.

Spokesman Report

ISLAMABAD: FPCCI's Presidential candidate Atif Iqbal Sheikh on Thursday said depriving masses from cheap Indian vegetables amid increasing inflation in cruelty.

The continuous increase in the price of electricity and oil is destroying the economy. And the burden on the traders is unbearable, he said. Atif Iqbal Sheikh said that profiteers should not be supported by banning food imports from India as the discriminatory decisions will be making life difficult for millions of people. He said that the troubled economy has suffered billions of dollars in losses because of inefficiencies in the energy sector.

Atif Iqbal Sheikh said that the energy sector is facing policies that contradict the ground realities which is shrinking GDP for decades. He said that the LNG sector could not be streamlined despite spending billions of dollars and the industrial sector is paying the price for it. When gas was cheap, it was not imported and imports were started when its price in the international market was more than the purchasing power of consumers. Pakistan has been importing LNG for six years and to become the world's ninth largest LNG importer but it has failed to streamline the system and experiments are being done.

During all these years, neither gas pipeline could be built nor have new gas terminals been built while the private sector is not allowed to import gas. He said that 60 percent of the country's exports were related to the textile sector which is facing serious issues which need to be resolved. Atif Iqbal noted that the mismanagement and weak governance in the power sector increased transmission and distribution losses to Rs473 billion during 2021, while the total receivables of the sector reached Rs1.5 trillion. Energy is a chronic problem that last eight governments have not been able to solve. Due to mismanagement and weak governance in the power sector resulting in huge losses.

Ericsson raises sustainability bar anew with triple-band, tri-sector 5G radio

Spokesman Report

ISLAMABAD: Ericsson is once again setting the pace for sustainable networks with the introduction of a new triple-band, tri-sector radio that can do the job of nine radios. Radio 6646 cuts energy consumption by 40 percent compared to triple-band single-sector radios and, with reduced weight - including use of aluminum - by 60 percent, minimizes site footprint as well.

The new radio extends the multiband capabilities of Ericsson tri-sector products by combining 900, 800, and 700MHz frequency bands into one compact 2G to 5G-capable radio.

With the ever-growing need of communications service providers (CSPs) for more sustainable solutions, Radio 6646's low-band spectrum capabilities will significantly boost both 5G coverage and mid-band (3.5GHz) performance in an energy-efficient way.

A 40-percent reduction in energy usage can translate to yearly savings per site that is comparable to charging an electric car 40 times. Moreover, the 60-percent reduction in weight of the new triple-band, tri-sector radio will further help CSPs to minimize deployment costs, tower rent as well as carbon footprint. One Radio 6646 can do the job of nine single-band radios.

Vicente Abad, RAN Technology and Support Manager at Telefonica Spain, says: "Ericsson's new Radio 6646 will offer a highly compact and flexible solution to expand 5G coverage in a very cost-efficient manner while being economical and sustainable - the footprint and energy consumption achieved are something we believe will be a powerful driver for 5G, and we look forward to the first deployments in Spain."

Pakistan, Hong Kong to compete in T20I for first time

Pakistan is confident of clinching a place in the Super 4 stage

Spokesman Report

DUBAI: Babar Azam will lead Pakistan against Hong Kong in the last group match of ACC T20 Asia Cup 2022 TODAY in Sharjah. This will be the first match between the two teams in the shortest format.

Pakistan's opening pair of Babar Azam and Mohammad Rizwan are currently placed at the first two spots in the ICC T20 Batters Rankings.

Pakistan is confident of clinching a place in the Super 4 stage of the tournament by defeating Hong Kong, who were beaten by table-toppers India on Wednesday in Dubai.

Pakistan lost a nail biter against India on Sunday as well. Fakhar Zaman: "It was a tight game against India, the morale is high in the camp and all our players are confident of doing better in the upcoming game. "T20 is a short format which provides an equal opportunity for both teams to show-case their strengths. To aim for the Super 4 we have to ensure we minimise our errors and put up a good show."

"Hong Kong has played good cricket in the qualifiers but we will try to stick to our plans. "The weather is hot here in UAE but we are trying to keep ourselves hydrated. We'll be playing against some competitive teams in Super 4 and for that we need to be in perfect shape. The match will be played at the historical Sharjah Cricket Stadium.

According to the Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB), the national contingent had been given rest. Earlier, on Wednesday, Pakistan left-handed batter Fakhar Zaman, wicket-keeper batter Mohammad Rizwan, and head coach Saqlain Mushtaq did not take part in the scheduled training session.

Whereas, pacers - Naseem Shah, Haris Rauf, and Shah Nawaz Dahani - enjoyed a rest day on Tuesday before rejoining the squad in Wednesday's training session.

It is pertinent to mention here that Pakistan pacers Haris Rauf and Naseem suffered from cramps during the high-octane clash against the arch-rivals India on Sunday. The men in blue edged past Pakistan by five wickets in a final-over thriller.

Meanwhile, Pakistan's former cricket captain Inzamam-ul-Haq highlighted the importance of the country's next fixture in the Asia Cup against Hong Kong, saying Pakistan should not take Hong Kong lightly.

Inzamam said that Haider Ali should get a chance in the match against Hong Kong. Pakistan should take a risk on Khushdil Shah and Asif Ali, he said.

He missed Shoaib Malik in the national squad, saying it would have been better if Pakistan had a player like him. Pakistan faced defeat at the hands of India in their first faceoff in the major cricketing event of the Asian continent. The country's next match against Hong Kong is crucial for the side to remain in the tournament.

Verstappen expecting 'crazy' festival at Dutch GP

NETHERLANDS: Max Verstappen is expecting an emotional and "pretty crazy" festival as he heads into his first home race as world champion, seeking his 10th win of the season, at this weekend's Dutch Grand Prix.

Buoyant after a run of spectacular triumphs including a masterclass for Red Bull at last Sunday's Belgian Grand Prix, the runaway leader of the title race warned the clamour of a capacity crowd could be distracting as he faces a much tougher contest.

"It will be harder for us to be as dominant and I expect Ferrari to be strong," said the 24-year-old Dutchman. "There's a lot more downforce required at Zandvoort. "Of course, I want a good result, but it's important to score points, always, so let's hope we can do a good job. My family will be there to support me, and I will enjoy the weekend with the fans. "It's going to be pretty crazy." Verstappen will pay tribute to his father Jos, a former F1 driver who guided his son through his early career, with a new helmet design.

"I thought it would be a good time to show appreciation of my dad's efforts made for me when I was a little kid to bring me to where I am today," he said.

"It's a bit emotional, but I think it's just special too because it shows how I started in karting — and the old pictures of me in go-karts are with this design. I hope a lot 'Dutchies' and my dad's fans appreciate this."

Khyber Pakhtunkhwa beat Northern in a thriller

Spokesman Report

RAWALPINDI: Title defenders Khyber Pakhtunkhwa recorded their second win in as many matches with a two-run victory over Northern in a last-ball thriller at the Pindi Cricket Stadium.

Khyber Pakhtunkhwa are locked on four points with table toppers Sindh following today's win, while Northern are positioned fifth, just above Central Punjab who are also yet to register a win.

Earlier in the day, Southern Punjab recorded their first win of the Kingdom Valley National T20 Cup 2022-23 with a 21-run win over Balochistan. With one win each now, Balochistan and Southern Punjab are standing at third and fourth positions.

Northern needed 160 to win and their opener Hasan Nawaz (38 off 25) looked on course to hand them their first win, but Khalid Usman's off-spin put a dent in their hopes as he accounted for Nasir Nawaz and Hasan in the fifth and ninth overs to reduce the batting side to 53 for three.

What further hurt Northern was Khalid's discipline - half of his 24 deliveries were dots as he finished with terrific figures of two for 16.

Rohail Nazir (24 off 29) and Ali Imran (31 off 27) ignited hopes with a 48-run stand off 41 balls, but the partnership ended at the end of the 15th over with Rohail's dismissal and five balls later Ali followed him to the pavilion.

Aamir Jamal's 29 not out off 15 lifted Northern's scoring rate towards the backend of the innings and with 15 required off the last six, he brought his side closer to the win, but Mohammad Imran defended the target.

Sahibzada Farhan was the star of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa's innings with a 45-ball 53 (two fours and three sixes) and was duly supported by wicketkeeper Mohammad Haris (33 off 27) from the other end.

The ceremony would be held at the Convention Centre, Lok Sewa Bhawan, Bhubaneswar, Odisha, India and will also be streamed live on Watch.Hockey.

The pinnacle of the FIH men's tournaments would be held from January 13 to 29, 2023 which involves 16 participating national teams, said a press release.

Those include India, as the hosts of the competition, whilst Malaysia, Japan and Korea were the other Asian teams. Africa was represented by South Africa, recent winners of the Africa Cup of Nations. From Europe, the following teams have qualified: Belgium, England, Germany, Netherlands, Spain, France and Wales. Argentina and Chile were the two American teams having booked their ticket for the tournament, while Australia and New Zealand, from Oceania, complete the draw.

The draw would be conducted by FIH CEO Thierry Weil. The four top teams which include host India, Australia, Belgium and Netherlands would be placed on the first row of their corresponding Pools based on the FIH World Rankings as per June 1, 2022. The draw would start with Row 4 of each Pool, involving teams: South Africa, Wales, Japan and Chile.

It would then continue with Row 3 of each Pool (involving Spain, Malaysia, France and Korea) and conclude with Row 2 of each Pool (with Germany, England, Argentina and New Zealand).

The Kalinga Hockey Stadium in Bhubaneswar and the brand-new Birsamunda Hockey Stadium in Rourkela would host the matches, in the state of Odisha, India. In the previous edition, in 2018, Belgium claimed the title by winning the final against Netherlands, while Australia wrapped up the podium places, finishing third.

Minister announces scholarship for Athlete Shajar Abbas

The athlete called on the sports minister at National Hockey Stadium here. Director Admin Syed Omair Hasan was also present. The minister and the athlete discussed promotion and development of athletics in the province.

Malik Taimoor Masood said that Shajar Abbas was a hero of the nation, as he exhibited excellent performance in the 200m event at recently organised Commonwealth Games 2022 in Birmingham.

"Shajar has already proved his extraordinary talent in athletics events in Iran, Turkey and other countries," he added.

Napoli draw with Lecce to leave Roma

MILAN: Roma stayed top of Serie A on Wednesday after Napoli were held to a 1-1 draw by Lecce, while underwhelming Juventus beat Spezia 2-0.

Napoli would have gone first on goal difference with a win over their promoted opponents at the Stadio Maradona but Lorenzo Colombo's rocket just after the half-hour mark ensured Lecce escaped Naples with a point. Luciano Spalletti's side sit third after four games, two points behind Roma and one away from second-placed Inter Milan, while Lecce are 15th after earning their second point of the campaign.

"This Lecce team sweats blood... and fights for its people. We'll be rewarded if we go out onto the pitch every time with this spirit," said Colombo to DAZN. Napoli thought they were on their way to a regulation win when Elifj Elmas tapped in Matteo Politano's mishit shot in the 27th minute. The hosts took the lead just seconds after Alex Meret had kept them level by beating away Colombo's retaken penalty follow a clumsy foul on Federico Di Francesco by Tanguy Ndombele on his full debut.

But Colombo — whose first successful spot-kick was ruled out as the referee had not blown his whistle — was not downhearted and blasted Lecce level four minutes after they went behind. The Italy Under-21 international brought down a clearance and, after not being closed down, spun and unleashed a shot which this time left Meret grasping at air. "I heard a whistle thinking it was the referee so I took the penalty, I only realised after that there had been no whistle," added Colombo.

"So I retook it and missed, but I stayed in the game. There was still a long time to go and the team still needed me so I didn't want to leave it at that." Napoli pushed the whole second half for the win, but apart from Elmas being denied from close range soon after the break and Victor Osimhen heading over late on, they struggled to create clear-cut chances and had to settle for a point.

Juventus are level on points with Napoli in fourth thanks to another superb ninth-minute free-kick from Dusan Vlahovic, his fourth goal of the season, and Arkadiusz Milik's first for the club in front of new signing Leandro Paredes. Argentina star Paredes was at the Allianz Stadium in Turin after completing his loan move from Paris Saint-Germain earlier in the day.

The three points maintain Juve's unbeaten record but won't hide another disappointing performance from Massimiliano Allegri's injury-dogged side. Allegri was without Leonardo Bonucci, Federico Chiesa and Paul Pogba, whose private life has been in the headlines after what he described as threats and extortion attempts from gangsters. Angel Di Maria returned as a second-half substitute after recovering from a thigh injury picked up during his debut earlier in the month.

Bubba 'praying' to stay in Masters

NEW YORK: Two-time Masters Champion Bubba Watson says he is praying to be allowed back at Augusta National after jumping from the PGA Tour to LIV Golf, but is prepared for any ban.

Watson, sidelined by a knee injury, was among ex-PGA newcomers to the Saudi-backed LIV series speaking Wednesday ahead of the event starting Friday at The International course in Bolton, Massachusetts. LIV Golf's record $25 million purses have helped lure 26 of the world's 100 top players to the circuit.

But players who leave for LIV Golf have been banned indefinitely by the PGA Tour and while LIV players were allowed in this year's US and British Opens, there is no guarantee they will be allowed in majors going forward, even at events where past champions typically get long-term starting spots.

"It's a weird situation, being a Masters champion," Watson said. "Augusta, right now, we can play in it, and I'm hoping, and praying, that they make the right decisions and past champions (can play). "If they tell me that I can't go, being a past champion, then I don't want to be there anyway because that's just the wrong way to look at it."

Chile's Joaquin Niemann, who shared 11th at last week's PGA Tour Championship, said he had no regrets about his decision, even if it means he would not play in more majors. "I had thought about it a lot of days and I'm really happy with my decision and I'm really excited to be part of the LIV Tour," Niemann said.

"We earn our place in the majors and if they want to see real competition they have to have the top players. That's why the majors are there." India's Anirban Lahiri, who like Niemann was among six players named Tuesday as new LIV members, said he was excited for the chance to play more often in Asia.

"There's so much good that's going to come out of this. It's definitely going to boost the growth in that region," Lahiri said. He hopes to play in a future

LIV event in India. "That's going to be a possibility in the future and that's where you inspire the next generation," Lahiri said. "It's definitely going to be impactful."

Lahiri has lived his dream of playing in majors but is happy to play less often now. "I also reach a point in time of my life now where I've had my second kid, and I want to be home more and I want to give them the best environment I can," Lahiri said.

World ranking points are not awarded for LIV events, although with world number two Cameron Smith, the British Open champion, making the switch this week, Watson argues they should.

"The number two player in the world is now here so if you're going to try to see the best players in the world, then you should have world ranking points," Watson said. He would also like to see the best of LIV Golf and the PGA compete against each other one day.

"I'd love if there's a way to figure out a way all of us work together or at least play LIV against PGA Tour," Watson said. Watson traded cordial texts with Rory McIlroy after the European star won the Tour Championship and said he hopes he still has PGA pals. "I didn't die," Watson said. "We can still be friends." American Harold Varner III, said his jump was influenced by the chance for the "generational" wealth LIV offered to secure his family for life. It also meant a huge social media backlash.

"It sucked," Varner said. "It's terrible. I'd rather not even be known than be hated. I just hate to be hated because you're doing what's best for you." Varner's bid he appreciated how PGA Tour changes to boost prize money made it more like LIV Golf. "Everyone is going to be better off now than they were two years ago," Varner said. "Somebody is about to get paid, that's for sure."
